

5 Little Known Reasons to Have a Remote Mailbox

What is a Remote Mailbox?

You live a busy life, dealing with mail shouldn't be a hassle. A remote mailbox – especially one that is staffed and managed – offers advantages for receiving mail, sending mail, and maintaining an address separate from your home address.

Who Uses a Remote Mailbox?

Business professionals from virtually every industry you can imagine use remote mailboxes.

Accountants who want things tidy.

eBay sellers who want a place to ship and receive.

Dance instructors who want to plie by day and deal with all the business jazz after class.

Divorce lawyers who want to review court documents outside the office drama.

Freelance writers who eagerly await their manuscript critiques.

Jewelry makers who receive gems in the mail.

Party planners who check mail between overseeing big events.

Personal trainers who are on site keeping their clients fit.

Patent reviewers who need to make sure that their blueprints and secure

Political candidates who want a trusted place to receive important mail while they're out shaking hands and kissing babies

Web designers who need to be reminded that not everything can be sent via email.

Benefits

1. Security of Your Mail – Amazon package snatchers can't reach your deliveries. When you use a remote mailbox with My Mailbox Store, we ensure that your letters, packages, and parcels are secured for you.

2. Professional Service for Business Professionals – When you have a package that you want to send to Atlanta containing contracts, chocolate chip cookies, or nearly anything in between, you need to ship it. At My Mailbox Store, we offer our expertise to help you ship items the most cost-effective and expeditious way.

3. Convenience – Have you ever had to mail a package after work? That's fine, unless the USPS or other shipping store closed. My Mailbox Store is open from 8 am - 8 pm weekdays and from 9 am-5 pm on Saturdays to accommodate our customers' needs.

4. Physical Separation from a Home-Based Business – Did your business mail ever get mixed in with your personal mail on the dining room table? That could be a disaster if important documents or receipts get lost. Having a remote mailbox solves that problem.

5. Prestigious Address Without the Cost of an Office – If you don't need an office to conduct business, why pay for one just to receive your mail? My Mailbox Store provides a Concord Pike address for your business instead of paying an arm and a leg for a full office.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What are the most popular services you provide?

A: While we are known for our remote mailbox services for business professionals, our customers also appreciate our expertise with shipping packages, notarizing legal documents, secure document shredding, and on-the-fly fax sending and receiving.

Q: You are open longer than most retail businesses. Do people really come in at all hours?

A: In our experience, yes. Opening at 8 am allows business people to drop off packages or pick up mail on their way to a morning meeting, and having more hours than the USPS allows us to meet the needs of our established customers as well as the occasional out-of-town traveler who needs to send a notarized loan application for next day delivery and finds us on Concord Pike.

Q: What if I have a question about whether an important letter or package has arrived in my private mailbox. Do I have to drive over to check?

A: If you had a PO Box, you would have to do that. With a private mailbox at My Mailbox Store, you could either give us a call and ask what's in your box and we could check for you, saving you a trip until your wanted item arrived. Or, if you tell us in advance, we would be happy to keep an eye out for your delivery and either give you a call, text, or email when it arrives. Our personal service is something our customers are always mentioning – to us it seems like the decent and obvious way to be of service.
